Defense Attacks District Judge

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—A charge that United States District Judge Maurice T. Dooling, coerced the jury into bringing in a verdict convicting Harry Brodski and Douglas Newton of violation of the Volstead prohibition enforcement act, was made by defense counsel in the United States circuit court of appeals today when the appeals of Brodski and Newton came up for hearing. Brodski, a broker, and Newton, former saloon man, were sentenced to 10 years each in a federal penitentiary and fined $10,000 and $5,000 respectively. They were charged with having been the leaders in an alleged illicit whiskey selling ring with state wide ramifications. Judge Dooling sent the jury back to deliberate further when it was ready to disagree, because of a hearing episode in the courtroom during which the jury was placed on the jury's decision, the defense charged today.

U. S. TO MAKE FINAL PLEA TO AVERT STRIKE

Railroad Presidents and Labor Heads To Meet

Session Is Called To Prevent Tieup of Roads

Hopper, public representative on the board.

Hopper sought throughout his examination of the five union leaders to bring out that their strike order was not only in defiance of the July wage cut decision, but by including other and unrelated questions, violated that part of the transportation act which says all disputes shall be referred to the board first for settlement.

Lee, of the trainmen said his organization's intent was based solely on the July 1 wage cut and asserted he had withdrawn from the brotherhood's joint meeting and refused to subscribe to their ballot. The language of the joint ballot he said implied other questions were involved.

Other leaders defended the joint ballot and asserted all the other questions referred to a hearing on the basis of which the tieup of the employees to vote for a strike.

The questions of time and a general revision of schedules were included in the discussion preceding the strike question proper on both the joint ballot and that the trainmen. While all union chiefs maintained that the strike vote was technically taken on the July 1 wage cut, admitted the other questions would probably figure in any settlement leading to calling off the strike.

The questioning brought out that a vote against the strike had been returned on 22 roads by the trainmen; on 14 roads by the firemen; and on three roads by the steamshovel men. The chairman said that the switchmen on every system voted for a strike. Stone, after a heated protest against furnishing the information to his enemies, agreed to obtain it from his office in Cleveland.

The hearing was marked by clashes between members of the board and Stone. Mr. Stone charged Chairman Barton was not giving the unions a fair hearing, after the union leader had attempted to introduce the names of seven roads which, he said, violated orders of the board. The chairman ruled against the evidence.

Refuses Answer

"It is not our purpose to listen to discussions going back into the history of other decisions or the merits of decisions we have rendered," the chairman said. "If you want to be heard on that, you may be heard at another time and place."

"I want to call your attention to the fact that Mr. Hopper just asked that identical question Mr. Sheppard and Mr. Sheppard replied to it," Stone retorted.

"Violations of schedules by those different roads has been going on for months and that is what we are trying to get you to find those men whom I represent in this board, then I want to know where the $9,000 engine can find relief. If we are to be prohibited explaining the feeling of our men, then I do not see that there is anything more for me to say."

Stone finally was permitted to read the names of the seven roads, on motion of W. L. McMenamin, labor member of the board. The first two were the Atlantic, Birmingham, Atlantic and the Missouri and North Arkansas, both of which were in the hands of receivers.

"Don't you know our decisions were overruled by the federal courts on those roads?" Chairman Barton and Mr. Hopper interrupted.

"Then to carry it to a logical conclusion, all a road needs to do is to go into a receiver's hands and the transportation is null and void," Stone replied.

The five other roads named by Stone as violating the board's decision included the Denver and Salt Lake, Arizona and New Mexico, Nevada Northern.

Convicted Man Is Pardoned for Kidnaping Child

OLYMPIA, Wash., Oct. 26.—Acting Governor W. J. Cagle today granted a full and unconditional pardon for George Stagg, former Tacoma, who was convicted a year ago of kidnaping his child and was sentenced to a term at Walla Walla penitentiary.

Acting Governor Cagle, stating his reasons for granting the pardon to Stagg, said:

"George Stagg was today granted a full pardon because I thought it was right. I have acted after a thorough and complete investigation. The desire of a father for the possession and affection of his child does not evidence a corrupt or criminal mind."

The case created wide interest. Mr. Stagg later sent the child, Bobby, back to his mother from the East and returned himself to plead guilty. Betty Brainerd, newspaper woman, was arrested in connection with the case, but was acquitted.

60 THOUSAND IN JEWELRY TAKEN

Thieves Make Getaway With Gems

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—Jewelry said to be valued at $60,000 and an automobile in which SEAM Hurwitz, a salesman, was conveying it from one retail jeweler's establishment to another for exhibition purposes, was stolen here today by two men who jumped into the car and drove away immediately after Hurwitz had stepped out of it at Sixty first street and Main avenue.

The jewelry was the property of the L. Heberich jewelry company, which employed Hurwitz. The salesman had left the car to enter a small jewelry store when the two men jumped into the front seat. Hurwitz ran back to the car, but the thieves drove away immediately after he started the car.

Police and officers of the Automobile Club of Southern California began a search on motorcycles and in automobiles for the bandits soon after Hurwitz reported the robbery. The police said they believed the robbers had followed Hurwitz for several days awaiting an opportunity to steal the jewelry and the automobile.

SAYS ALLIANCE PREVENTS TALK

Northcliffe States Pact Outruns Usefulness

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The Anglo-Japanese alliance "undoubtedly is the dominating factor which prevents an unfettered attempt by Great Britain, Japan and the United States to solve problems of the Pacific," declared Lord Northcliffe to a House of Commons respondent, who interjected him in long Hong Kong yesterday.

Lord Northcliffe gave as a reason that the alliance placed the United States "outside of virtually definite arrangements for the control of China."

"During the last two years," he continued as saying, "I have been coming to the conclusion that the Anglo-Japanese alliance has outrun its usefulness. Japan faithfully carried out the compact during the war, and she has been well rewarded. The purpose of the Washington conference is to reach a mutual agreement, but the United States is handicapped by an arrangement made by Japan and Great Britain concerning the chief problem for the Pacific."

"A proclamation of the alliance only serves to irritate public and official opinion in the United States," he said, "and it does nothing to the prestige of Great Britain in Asia."

"It cannot assist in establishing cooperation as a means of helping China, and it prevents reconciliation of the diverging interests of Japan and the United States. At present China cannot give satisfactory national guarantees so there is urgent necessity for making international assistance to China a practical possibility."

"I hold that there can be no solution of the Pacific problem which does not rest on the solid foundation of Anglo-American friendship and cooperation."

Grant Retrial For Convicted Woman

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—Mrs. Maybelle Rice, convicted of murder in the first degree for the slaying of McCullough Graydon, real estate broker, at Venice in July, 1920, was granted a new trial by a decision handed down by the district court of appeal today. She had been sentenced to life imprisonment in accordance with a recommendation by the jury, which heard the case.

Mrs. Rice's defense was that she shot Graydon in protection of the life of Oscar A. Powers during an altercation over a cottage Graydon occupied at Venice. Powers was convicted of murder in the first degree when tried as an accessory, and was also sentenced to life imprisonment.

"AMERICANISM"

We can both agree and disagree with certain portions of the report of the commission of the American Legion on "Americanism," made public yesterday at St. Louis.

This body proposes to continue vigorous action to maintain public opinion against the pardoning of Eugene V. Debs and against any drive that there may be made to remit any punishment that should be accorded to Grover Bergdoll.

Attitude toward both these cases should be maintained as tests of our national spirit.

There is no reason why an ordinary criminal should not be pardoned, in due time, on due process of reasons for mitigating punishment, or on proof of a miscarriage of justice. There is no reason why Debs should not be pardoned or paroled, in due course, on a proper showing.

But the drive for a pardon for Debs is not made on any proper ground. It is made on the asserted or assumed ground that Debs is an innocent and an abused man, and that he is innocent on the face of facts as produced in the court at the time of his conviction.

This matter has been gone into thoroughly enough hitherto, throughout the United States. We are all familiar with it. But the persistence of certain persons, who do not believe there is such a thing as "treason," who do not believe a nation should have any power to repress in time of war efforts to assist the enemy toward a victory—this persistence is maintained to secure the freedom of Debs as a "martyr of American misgovernment."

We do not believe in keeping Debs in jail merely to "show" these people that he can be kept there. But he should remain there as an object lesson of the power of American government to convict an offender against its right to self preservation in time of war, and to regard such action as "crime" to be punished, not merely a political offense to be condoned as soon as the war is over.

So with the case of Bergdoll, except that the drive for Bergdoll is of a more morally repulsive kind. It is slimy with the indecent use of money and it is filled with the guile of those whose sympathies are against the country which they are only interested in "making use of." We have no more contempt for the sort of person that is symbolized in the Bergdoll family than we have for certain other families that live in Paris or London but live off of unearned increment in the United States. They have the arrogance solely of money. And they have the social stealthiness of persons whose only vitality is based on money. We may expect to find these sneaky persons trying to make use of the forgetfulness of the American people to bring Bergdoll back to the United States. The passage of years should permit no statute of limitations in to apply in this case.

The zeal of the American Legion commission, we think, goes too far in its utterance against the transmission of anarchistic and radical literature through the mail or its sale.

Any attempt to authorize executive authority to censor the mails can be defended only as a war measure. Just as we suspend the writ of habeas corpus or the right of free speech or other principles of liberty in time of war, so we can defend the use of the mails from the opportunity of treason. In war, as we can divert every governmental and every social energy to the securing of victory. But there can be no excuse for such a use of executive authority, except in time of national danger.

To permit the Harding administration or the Wilson administration or any other administration, to permit Hays or Burleson, or any other man or set of men to decide that such and such matter shall not go through the mails because it is "radical," is a dangerous grant of authority. It is politically subversive. It would create in the United States something equivalent to the death grip of the Russian okhrana. We don't want it.

What we should do with "radical" literature is to just what we should do with any other new growth, submit it to the light. Exposure is the best cure for evil.

PARTIES IN THE SOUTH

President Harding has done a service both to his country and to his own political organization in convicting the Republican party of a share of guilt in the creation of the race issue in the South.

While the tangled causes of the interracial feeling in the former slave states cannot be reduced to a simple formula for purposes of political recrimination, we can at least declare that the appeal to the negroes of the South to vote the Republican ticket was made at a time when no such appeal should have been made, and at a time when the seeds of racial resentment would have been most likely to take root. For the fact that the whites of the South are nearly all Democrats and the negroes of the South are nearly all Republican, we of the whole country in our several ways are to blame. And we should make it our business as far as possible to rectify that error. For the value that we find in parties, we should expect to have them constructed in the South, as in the rest of the country, on a basis of intellectual appeal, not of racial prejudice.

The men who hereafter constitute themselves the leaders of the Republican party should make precisely the same appeal in the South as in any other part of the country. They should neither seek nor reject the vote of the negro citizens. And the negroes of the United States should expect to find their civic as well as their political security in the sense of justice of the citizens of the United States as a whole, not of any one party.

We cannot, of course, by one speech or by one writing, or by one political incident, expect to remake an unhealthy political situation. But we can take pleasure in observing a tendency toward a more healthy condition of political life in the South. And we can hope to assist in this development both by the assurance of equal political justice everywhere and by our refusal to confuse political and civic rights with other relationships with which politics has nothing to do.

WE SHOULD KNOW WHY

Whether such acts as the killing of a parish priest in South Dakota yesterday are the results of a personally criminal intent or of a mental disease spreading from one person to another, it is the duty of those in the field of inquiry to make due investigation and make known the facts.

It is perhaps a natural impulse, when one hears of the death of a person set apart as a priest is from his fellow men by personal act and social custom, to assume that the crime is connected with the priestly character. In fact that connection is usually entirely imaginative. But it might occur. For the sake of truth in social thought as well as in the administration of justice, there should be in such cases something more than the perfunctory criminal investigation. There should be a psychological revelation.

ROMANCE AND UTILITY

The indignation over the proposed razing of the ancient walls of Peking, in Peking, may not be realizable in the United States. And yet we can have a certain amount of sympathy with it.

We should be reasonable in our reverence for the past.

Just as reasonable as we are in our reverence for the works of nature that contribute a flavor to our lives.

We should not ever think of making a storage reservoir out of the Yosemite valley, nor of the Kings river canyon. Yet we may have to destroy some beauty in the development of a reasonable use of the water power of our Sierra. Our demand for romance should not vary in inverse ratio to our population. Mere population growth should not make of the earth a factory. We had better take steps to repress population if that is a menace.

But there is no such menace. The danger is in shortsightedness that refuses to see the part that beauty plays in our lives, as well as utility.

We must have Yosemite valleys, as well as bread. And it is quite possible for Peking to have adequate transportation, we should hope, as well as to preserve the architectural monuments of its past.

Not being in Peking, we cannot say whether the walls are a nuisance, or a rich heritage of traditional art.

But we hope they stay. And that the capital of China finds some other means of transit than to use this ground.

Burgenland

Bulletin, National Geographic Society.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Burgenland, scene of Europe's most recent "side show war," might just as well be Graustark as far as its existence upon the usual map or in the general reference work is concerned, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Explaining what and where is this recent scene of hostilities between Austrians and Hungarians the bulletin says:

"By Burgenland is meant the West Hungary of 1,684 square miles and some 245,000 people which was carved from Hungary and given to Austria by the Treaty of St. Germain.

"The strip resembles nothing so much, perhaps, as an old shoe, with its flattened heel touching the Danube opposite Pressburg (or Pozsony), its instep arched along the Austria-Hungary border, its toe nearly touching Jugoslavia.

"Burgenland the parenthesis comes into its own. The map or time table which neglects to give one alternative for a city or town, and sometimes a third choice, will handicap its user. Tact also would require that if one speaks of the principal city of the region to an Austrian he call it Odenburg (also spelled Odenburg); but that if he mentions the same city to a Magyar he speak of it as Sopron.

"Odenburg has claims to fame on its own account, notably the church of St. Michael, completed eight years before Columbus discovered America, and its cattle markets of the days before the war. But its principal association is with the names of Esterhazy and Szechenyi.

"Both north and east of Odenburg are castles of the Esterhazy family. Along the Neusiedler See is the Hungarian Versailles where Haydn was conductor of the private orchestra of one Esterhazy; Nicholas Joseph, At Mattersdorf (Nagy-Marton), where, Austrians have the castle of the family among whose actions were a palatine of Hungary, one who refused the kingship of Hungary, another who was the emissary of Louis XVI to Marie Antoinette, and one who, in 1917, formed the Hungarian cabinet representing the parties opposed to Count Tisza.

"The castle of the Szechenyi family is nine miles southwest of Odenburg. Kossuth, his political opponent, called Istvan Szechenyi 'the greatest of the Magyars,' and thus seems to confirm this unbiased judgment. Figuring first as a sort of Paul Revere, in his ride through enemy lines to convey a message of two emperors to Blücher and Bernadotte, then as a Magyar lieutenant in his effort to make Buda a capital beautiful, this nobleman has to his credit such other diverse achievements as placing the first steamboats on the Theiss and Danube, suggesting canals between the two rivers, writing a book on horse racing, and giving a year's income to furthering the wider use of the Magyar tongue.

"The principal concern of both Austria and Hungary with Burgenland probably is the coal region at Brennau near Odenburg. In the vicinity, too, are the towns of Rust and Bal, centers of wine production.

"Neusiedler See, not far from Odenburg, is a shallow body of water more than 20 miles long and averaging seven miles wide. At times it shrinks to half its size. About the time of our Civil War it dried up altogether.

After you get one look at an Antiklischer enthusiast you understand the reason for the faith that is in him.

AUTOMOBILE WARNINGS

Curtain Interference

With the arrival of winter months and chilly nights, open car owners are driving with curtains snugly fastened. This means that greater precaution must be taken by all drivers, particularly at night. The curtains, in spite of large view spaces through glass, cut down the driver's area of vision, particularly with reference to cars approaching from the rear.

At crossings, drivers should watch closely for cars approaching at right angles. There is only one way to be safe, and that is to "play safe." Let the other fellow take the chance, is the best policy for every driver.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

Wasted Ability

Providing you are an intelligent human being, you put the money you have to work.

Either invested in sound securities, or deposited in a savings bank it will earn interest for you.

Buried in a hole under the fire place, or stuffed away in a stocking, it will be a useless risk.

If you have ability, you will, if you are wise, do the same thing with it.

Ability, left unused, may be brilliant, like flashes of lightning, but it is no more valuable to mankind.

You have doubtless known many brilliant men who were unable to make their own living.

You have known men of real talent, who hardly knew where their next meal was coming from.

These men knew they had talent, but they made the mistake of thinking that the talent would take care of them.

It will not. Not even genius will do that.

The possession of special ability involves always the burden of cultivating it upon its owner.

Federwsky's marvelous musical genius would be useless to himself and to the world, had he not spent hours of tedious labor in its cultivation.

Michael Angelo, perhaps the most gifted man ever born, worked harder than any other of his time, harder than any man has ever worked since in making his genius shine before the world.

No man of talent has ever succeeded without long hours of toil.

There are many in the world who might have succeeded, but they depend largely on others for their support.

There is a lesson in this for every one. For if men so greatly gifted must work hard throughout their lives, how much more must the man of ordinary ability labor to make what he does count.

Every man has a little ability of some sort. The difference between prosperity and poverty is the difference in the way that ability is used.

If it is put to work, comfort and happiness follow. If it is left idle there is little hope for its owner but a life time of misery.

Twenty Years Ago Today

Under the new management the building now occupied by the Young Men's Christian association has assumed an entirely different appearance from what it had before the association took charge. The gymnasium in particular looks as though it were intended to be used. In fact the whole place is far more inviting to the athlete and gymnast than it has been for many years.

When that green hill rests arms and shade
Showers of rubies over me,
And the heart is free—free.

Grant but a little hour or two
In an open space where my blundering
May travel your golden leagues now,
And soar to the stars as it used to do
In the old, unfettered days.

Show me a sweep of October sky
Stark and far; while the goldenrod
Spies breakers of splendor waiting by
And oh, I think that I need not die

Why Not "Insanity League?"

Editor Republican: I noticed a report regarding the organization and proposed parade here next week, of the so called "Sanity League." In the first place the name is a misnomer. It should be called "Insanity League," for we all know it is but the opening wedge to the entire repeal of all prohibition laws. If the thousands of men and women filling our jails and hospitals, and untimely graves without a first step downward was an innocent glass of wine or beer, in saying nothing of the innocent victims suffering from nervous and mental disorders, our asylums, could be forced into a procession, the number would far exceed any procession formerly, for such a proposed unbridled either in this city or any other. Would it not be better for these gentlemen if they have the real interest of the community at heart, to form a "League for the enforcement of the law" and call for a monster parade as a pledge to the officers to help them in any way to uphold the law in our travels this summer in northern California, we need a good hard working man in a camp near Dunsmuir, who had no sympathy for such things himself, having learned by experience the folly of spending all his money for that which simply drove away the brains and gave nothing in return. But he said he knew of five working distilleries in the mountains around Dunsmuir and came into town especially on Saturday night, and disposed of their liquor, at an enormous profit, of course, to the hard working mill and lumber employees. And yet he rather prided himself on the fact, that of course he would not give them away, but they'll get them some way. Now is not this the wrong attitude for any law-abiding citizen? Ought he not rather consider it his bounden duty to inform those men and not in every way to impressing this nefarious traffic? I have lived many years in this community, part of the time in the vineyard district and have known of many people who made and drank their own wine. And in nearly every case, if the practice was persisted in, they either landed in the asylum or met untimely death, or ran amok and killed themselves or some one else. American people, especially Californians, cannot drink wine as they do in Italy or other European countries. There is something in the temperament of the people, or the excess of alcohol in the grapes that results most terribly on the nervous system. The air of our glorious California is like wine and we need no other stimulant for life and the pursuit of happiness, and I trust none of our prominent men or women who have the good of their state at heart will lend themselves to the furtherance of the schemes of this so called "Sanity League."

Respectfully,
MRS. J. ED. HUGHES,
Fresno.

Free Busses For

the High School

Editor Republican: Why not have free busses to haul the pupils to and from the high school? I hear the law of people complaining about paying car fare for their children and it is true that the high school is away to the north part of Fresno, Kernan and Modern high schools have free busses to pick up the pupils in the country and many in fact, a great many people here are better than four miles from the high school, lots of them are better than three miles. Look at the crowded cars night and morning, crowded with pupils. It represents lots of money. We can well afford to run free busses. It would take more than once any that would be lost, for to see that everyone could be convenient to the bus lines. We have taxes for many other things and it is all right, and it seems to me that now is the time to start the bus lines, for the need for out of the school bus money, if there is at present no money a bond issue to buy busses would carry by a big majority. We have a road in the school district, plenty of room, and by running these free busses, out of the school bus money, we will need for a long time to come.

Thoughts

LAW OR WAR

There is real danger confronting the conference. It is the danger of putting the cart before the horse. To limit armaments without settling up anything to take the place of armament is not practicable. Armaments are not so much the cause of the world's troubles as they are symptoms. Armaments are in the last analysis the guarantors of national security. It is just as absurd for nations to disarm before the existence of international crises, particularly in the case of the United States, as it is for a man to disarm until there are no thieves and no justice of the peace.

OUR LEAGUE OF NATIONS

From Toronto, Mail and Empire.
Canadians are loyal to the empire, and they ought to be, for an independent state of the empire, the League of Nations, in the eyes of the majority of the countries enjoying it, they have an influential vote in the determination of the great questions of world politics. Belonging to the British League of Nations, they are admitted to the international councils of the great powers.

The doctor had instructed the nurse to be out of taking and recording the patient's temperature. "If he's hot and he's on his arrival and morning, that your master's temperature is no higher."

"I was not hoping that would, sir," said the better solemnly. "He died an hour ago."

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

"If you are feeling low and glum,"
The doctor said one day,
"Just eat a ray of radium."
And care will pass away.
It brings a feeling of content
Especially to scribes,
No lassitude will fag a gent
Who radium imbibes.

"A ray of radium," said I,
"Sounds rather small to me;
I think I'll take a fair supply,
Say two—or maybe three."
So three I ate—I gulped them down,
And through the gathering gloom
(The radium store was well down town)
Set out to walk back home.

A friend I met, he looked unwell—
I spoke about the heat;
But with a wild and fearful yell
He fled across the street.
I met a lady that I knew;
Her face turned ashen gray,
She gave a gasping gulp of two
And fainted dead away.

The children ran as I passed by.
A dog came up behind,
And when upon me fell his eye
He furled his tail and whined.

Eat radium, gentle friends, with care.
If you, like me, are thin,
Keep off the public thoroughfare.
It shines right through your skin!

Theodore Roosevelt; His Birthday

This for remembrance
That a great man
Came into this world
Upon this day
A many years ago
And when he left it
Many things were better
For the life he'd lived.
The lanes of life
Are cluttered thick
With near-great men,
But on those pinnacles
Of high success
Where only those can go
Who're truly great
There's lonely freedom.
Many are called
Out of the ruck and rut
Of flat existence
To bear the burden
Of good leadership
And history records
How they have toiled
And strived and fought
And led with gallantry
Up through the years
To fall at last
Just when the feet of them
Seemed but to need
One more short step
To reach the firm ground
Of their strong ambition.
Sometimes
The shadows of misdeeds
Followed them faintly
Till the sun of success
Burst brightly
And brought those shadows
Into black relief
For all the world to see.
Sometimes
Caution, born of failures
In the early years,
Reached out across the way
Like dragging briar
And in one tragic moment
Made a sorry joke
Of lifetime effort.
Near-great they were,
These many men,
But here and there
A truly great man
Fought his fight
And reached the heights.
And we who profit
By their leadership
And strive to understand
How they have won
May get to know full well
The fierceness of the fight—
The "slings and arrows"
Of outrageous fortune
That assails them;
The gibes of those
They've passed;
The bitter taunts
Of hater folks;
That spread before them.
All these we see
And wonder comes to us
The whole day long
And sleeps with us
Through all our years
That any man could walk
Through all these dangers
And still be sweet at heart
And clean of mind
And full of pride
For all his fellow men
And fond of them.
Those who go high
Must suffer much
And he whose birthday
Comes upon this day
Fought to the very top.

FARMERS WILL ATTEND PICNIC

Annual Meeting Will be Held at Kearney

Several hundred farmers are expected to attend the annual meeting and picnic of the Fresno County Farm Bureau at Kearney Park today. The program will open at 10 o'clock. Senator M. B. Harris will make an address on "The Pine Plant Project."

Prof. F. T. Blodgett of the University of California will give an address and answer questions that may be propounded on the subject of "Viticulture."

Farm Adviser John P. Benson will give an address on the subject of the work of the Farm Bureau. A basket luncheon will take place at noon, and later in the afternoon a conference on hog raising with talks by prominent breeders will be held.

Rate Revision Will Be Considered Here

An application by the San Joaquin Light and Power corporation for a revision of rates filed some time since with the state railroad commission, will be heard in Fresno on Tuesday, December 13, according to notices received here yesterday. The matter will be taken up on "an investigation of electric rates, service and operations on the commission's own motion."

Fresno Fuel Co., Wood and Coal, Phone 288.

Ask Lower Rates on Vegetable Waste

Application has been made to the Interstate Commerce commission for permission to reduce rates on fruit and vegetable waste from Pacific coast points to eastern territory, effective on short notice, according to an announcement yesterday by H. E. Ish, division freight and passenger agent of the Southern Pacific company. The law requires 30 days' notice, but Ish states that the commission expects to have this requirement waived so that the reduction will benefit the fruit and vegetable growers and crushers, who have large stocks on hand as the result of canning and crushing operations during the present season.

Ish states that the reduction will amount to 25 per cent and will apply on apple chips, cores, pomace, scraps and skins. Rates to points Chicago and west will be reduced from $1.25 to 50 cents per 100 pounds.

During the evening refreshments will be served. Mrs. E. H. True, president of the organization, will have charge of the punch table, and Mrs. W. B. Holland and Mrs. B. B. Minor will be in charge of the refreshment table, where will be served ice cream and cake.

Olde Tyme Silk Sale

When the leaves begin to fall and mother nature starts her winter work, how timely it is that Cooper's blends the music of an Olde Tyme Silk Sale.

Think of these prices and likewise think of Cooper's guaranteed quality. Why it is doubtful if 1914 offered such extremely low quotations as Crepe de Chine, $1.33; Messaline, $1.55; Georgette Crepe, $1.22. Surely you will be here early this morning and freely partake of the greatest silk sale in our history.

You may ask how in the world can you sell high-grade silks at such low prices and it is correct that you should, but here is the reason. Owing to the late season, one of the large distributors of high-grade silk found himself over stocked, our buyer happened to be in the market just at the right moment to take full advantage of the situation. Instead of making even our regular profit we offer them to you at a margin of profit considerably less than usual, which as you can see, makes this the greatest of all silk sales.

Olde Tyme Price

Accuracy

ACCURACY in time-keeping is worth infinitely more than what you pay for it.

A platinum and diamond cased watch that will not keep time is no more useful than a retired alarm clock on the ash heap.

Accurate time-keeping can only come from extreme accuracy in the making of the "parts" inside the watch.

Do you know that if the measurement of some vital part varies but the fraction of a human hair, that watch in which such variation exists will always register a continuous loss or gain?

Waltham accuracy in time-keeping is a result of absolute accuracy in making every part of a Waltham Watch.

That is why your watch selection should be a Waltham.

Consult your jeweler. He knows Waltham Watches.

ACTIVITY IN BUILDING IS ON INCREASE

Report Is Issued For Twelfth Reserve District

Lumber Interests Show Steady Gains For Month

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—Expansion of building activity is noteworthy in the industrial field in the Twelfth Federal Reserve district, John Ferrin, federal reserve agent here declared in his report for September made public here today.

"September building returns from 20 principal cities reached the highest point since 1917, with the number of permits 10 per cent and their value 17.5 per cent greater than the corresponding totals for September, 1920," the report said.

"Actual output and large seasonal orders from domestic consumers during September produced a volume of new business for the reporting lumber mills of the district greater than the amount reported for any month since May, 1920. Lumber production in the first week of October was reported 30 per cent of normal.

"Continuing declines in prices of materials have operated to encourage silver and gold mining in the district, particularly the deep, undisturbed from placer gold mines, and moderate increase of activity is noted in these fields.

"Prompt marketing of the abundant crops of this district has been reflected during the past month in an easier credit condition, particularly in the rural sections of the district. For the first time in more than a year and a half the customary rate charged customers by banks in the leading financial center of the intermountain states, Utah, Idaho and Nevada, is reported to be 7 1/2 per cent instead of 8 per cent.

Combined rollbacks of all country banks in the district show a steady decline since August 15, and the total of $60,000,000 under reduction for country banks in October 4th was less than the total at any time since early summer. Funds received from the early heavy sales of agricultural products, this season, have apparently supplied the credit need which in normal years is met by an increase of bank borrowings at this season.

"The statement of the 45 reporting member banks in this district as of October 5 last shows that their borrowings during the past month from the federal reserve bank have not increased, despite a small expansion, $2,723,000, in loans to their customers.

"Petroleum production in California during September, on account of a strike, was the smallest monthly production in two and a half years, and for the first time this year consumption exceeded production, with a resultant decrease in storage stocks.

"Wholesale and retail trade experienced the increased activity customary in September as compared with August. Sales of 30 representative department stores during September were 2.3 per cent less in dollar value than in September, 1920, whereas similar percentages in the 10 lines of wholesale trade reporting to this bank vary from 12.2 per cent in the case of automobile tires to 53.3 per cent in the case of agricultural implements. Having regard to the greater percentage of decline in wholesale than in retail prices, it is probably true that the physical volume of goods now moving at wholesale, with the exception of agricultural implements and perhaps stationery, is about the same as the volume of September, 1920, while the volume of retail movement is appreciably larger than it was a year ago.

"Slightly increased employment in the four largest cities of the district during September correctly counterbalanced the cessation of harvest activities in many rural districts, and the net change in employment conditions during the month has been negligible.

"The heavy marketing of grain observed in August has continued during the month of September. Receipts at seaboard cities in the Pacific Northwest thus far this season have been 114 per cent greater than those of the corresponding period of 1920. Activity in flour milling has increased substantially, 64 reporting mills now operating at 63 per cent of capacity compared with 42 per cent a month ago and 44 per cent in September, 1920. Reporting mills assign as a reason for this activity an increase in both domestic and foreign demand for flour.

"Other seasonal crops of this district now moving to market are apples from the Pacific Northwest, cotton from Arizona and southern California, rice from northern California, and California specialty fruits such as raisins, prunes, almonds and walnuts. The early marketing of the apple crop of the Pacific Northwest has permitted shipments no far this season—200 per cent greater in amount than those of last year—do the same date, and at prices which have averaged approximately the same as those received in 1920. Cotton growers in the district have been particularly benefited by inasmuch as there has been no loss of crop due to the weevil, this pest not having infested the cotton growing areas of this district.

"In California the substantial carry over of their 1920 crop, which a few months ago was disturbing the producers of raisins and prunes in California, is now reported to have been sold for the past week and a half, and is steadily increasing. Almonds and walnuts, of which commodities California grows over 90 per cent of the United States' production have been brought rapidly at opening prices and growers have now practically sold out.

HAMMOND SAYS BUILD MORE BATTLESHIPS

Returns From Three Months Trip
In Orient
Must Build Two Ships
To Every One Of Japan

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—The United States should build two battleships for every one constructed by Japan, if the Washington conference on the limitation of armaments fails of its purpose, John Hays Hammond, internationally known engineering expert, declared here today upon his return aboard the liner Golden State after three months in the Orient.

Explaining what he said were three factions in Japan, the military, the business men and the pacifists. Mr. Hammond declared the pacifists "are used by the Japanese government to convey the idea to the pacifists in this country that Japan is ready to go more than half way to disarmament."

"The pacifist party has not much influence in Japan," he said, "and while Japanese business interests realize the importance of holding the friendship of the United States, as we buy 40 per cent of all Japanese goods, Japan's military party, which is controlled by her elder statesmen, has the final voice in power."

"In order to obtain finances for armaments they fall back on the patriotism of the Japanese people, telling them that they are unbeatable. This militancy of Japan do not understand any notion that they can conduct a successful aggressive war against the United States, but they do believe they can wage a successful defensive fight against us."

"The military party may be resisted to put up a stiff bluff. We should call that bluff, not by asking for disarmament, which encourages the military party of Japan to keep bluffing this country. We should face any issue that may arise between the two nations squarely."

"If this conference fails in its purpose for disarmament, we should be

Hotels Responsible For Law Enforcement

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—An order directing that all hotels be held responsible for the production of guests and visitors within their premises on account of the increasing number of such violations was received today by E. Forest Mitchell, district enforcement officer, from the United States Commissioner Hughes in Washington.

The order also directed that abatement proceedings be brought to close hotels where liquor is delivered or consumed illegally with the knowledge of the management.

Prepared to proceed immediately in the construction of two warships for every move of this kind on the part of America will force Japan to throw up the sponge. Japan has already an unfavorable balance of trade and she realizes it means the depletion of her gold resources to attempt to keep pace with this country in war construction."

Says Russia Must Be Boiled Out

Soviet Official Hopes to Vie With Americans
Claim Factory Products Needed

TIFLIS, Oct. 26.—The question upmost in the minds of all visitors to Russia is: "What can be done to revive Russia's broken-down economy and industrial situation?" The answer put forth by a Russian-American Jew who had just been freed from a Red guard over the correspondent's right to occupy a seat in a train jammed to overflowing during the trip from Batumi to Tiflis.

The friendly Jew, a high official in the Soviet of Georgia, sent here from Moscow to carry out in some degree the latter's plans, sat down in the crowded compartment and talked about Russia from his point of view.

"Russia's got to be boiled out, that's all," he explained. "The process may take 20 years, but when it's finished there'll be but two great peoples on earth, Russians and the Americans. And they'll be as like as twin brothers, both rich in agriculture and in mineral wealth."

"What Russia now needs is factory products, is trained engineers to put her on her feet, to help set to work her mines, and who else gets in on that job is bound to make big fortunes."

"The next and immediate need of Russia is education. The Soviet is trying to do that. Every man in the Red army is taught to read and write. That job is a difficult one. Under the old regime education was discouraged. The people were exploited by the wealthy and educated few."

This keen Russian-American told of himself and his present needs. He was earning a big salary, 100,000 rubles a month, exactly one dollar in the present rate of exchange and enough to keep his family going for about a month. The rest, the millions of rubles necessary for the other days, he made up by speculation, by shrewd practices for which he would be shot if they were known. But it was either that or starvation. His wife lay ill in Batumi with malaria, and a tablet of quinine, or one dose, cost 20,000 rubles, and had quality in it. Also, his only son had tuberculosis as a result of underfeeding and medicine at prohibitive prices were required.

Was this man satisfied with the Soviet regime? Of course not. He had worked hard for it for three years, to keep going, he had held all sorts of jobs that required high intelligence and he considered the crowd in Moscow a lot of fools.

Up to 1916, he had been in America, and his three automobiles and a big importing agency, owned his home in Brooklyn still, but he had been caught in the revolution and couldn't get out. So he was helping in the boiling out process. He's going to stick on because he can make his fortune back.

He hated the old aristocratic class because they tried to have everything for themselves, because there was a system that led to laziness, drunkenness and non-production and finally the extinction of their class in the grand crash of Russian revolution. All the good he could think to say for the Soviet was that it had tried hard. For one thing it had knocked out alcohol. Yes, that was one of the troubles of old Russia. Too much drink, among all classes. In Georgia, where we were, there was still plenty to drink but toward Moscow drink thinned out until none was to be had. There was lots of thieves—the correspondent had best look out for his pockets and his baggage—but to be caught stealing meant execution.

Another excellent institution of the Soviet was the Red army. Yes, there was a thing to be proud of. Discipline was fine. It was better than the czar's army. Only men up to 25 were enrolled. There were 500,000 or thereabouts—real force to be reckoned with.

Would the United States come in and help Russia? This thought was uppermost in his mind. He hoped so. He wanted to get back to America for a time to get some money together. Then he would return and make his fortune.

He had taken out his first papers years ago but his business in Russia had prevented his taking out the second papers. His wife was from Philadelphia. Born there. So was his son. It would take $1,000 to get back to the United States, which meant 100,000 rubles. Speculation as he might, he could never get together such a sum. Maybe he might arrange to get sent over on a commission, when Moscow got the Americans to accept the trade idea. Just now he had $5 in American money—500,000 rubles—which he had just given his wife as a birthday present.

Well, one had to make the best of things in Russia. One got used to makeshifts. He was supposed to have a private car but it was in the rear shop and tonight he was sleeping on the floor of the car as were in his couldn't find a seat and was glad of the floor space. Thousands had been left at the station in Batumi, waiting for another train.

Thanking the women who are putting Rinso to the supreme test: hard water

For adding their enthusiastic endorsement to that of the millions of users of Rinso in soft water localities

FROM women who live
where water is hard, word comes in every mail of highly satisfactory results with Rinso.

Proving them to be typical American women in their readiness for new and practical ideas.

Establishing Rinso beyond a doubt by this supreme test as the great discovery the World's Soap
Experts had foreseen it to be.

Hard water made as soft and easy to wash with as rain water

With the coming of vast city water systems, women faced hard water problems unknown in the days of the cistern and the rain barrel.

The World's Largest Soap Maker met this condition for them by making Rinso richer in pure cleansing materials than had ever been believed possible before.

Your clothes soak as safely in Rinso as in water alone

Rinso

SPECIAL DIRECTIONS—

—to make hard water as soft as rain water

For ordinarily soft water a half package of Rinso to a tub makes a rich lather. For harder water increase the amount until you get a thick, lasting suds, even after the clothes have been put in.

Dissolve the amount of Rinso you have found right for the water you use in two quarts of boiling water. Pour this solution into your tub of lukewarm water—stir well.

Put in your clothes and let them soak, one hour, two hours, over night—whatever time is convenient. Rinse, to remove the loosened dirt, till the water runs clear.

No other soap product or softener is needed with Rinso, even in the hardest water. In hard water use mo. Rinso.

FOR SKIN IRRITATIONS

You Can't Brush or
Wash Out Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you brush it away. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arson; apply it at night when resting; use enough to moisten scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single scale and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be naturally glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arson at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

U. S. TRADE IN EGYPT MAKES BIG INCREASE

Controversy Attracts Wide Interest in Alexandria
American Ships Making Port Multiply in Three Years

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Oct. 26.—The controversy between the United States shipping board and British shipping interests regarding the shipping of Egyptian goods from Alexandria to the United States has been watched with interest here.

American shipping interests in Egypt have grown rapidly within the last few years. This is shown by the fact that 55 American vessels entered this port in 1920, as compared to only 20 in the preceding year. In 1918 there were no American vessels calling here. In 1919 there was one and in 1920, three.

A single increase is shown in the number of American ships passing through the Suez canal. In the years 1918 and 1919 no such passages were recorded but in 1920 the number had reached 122 American vessels.

In consequence of this increase, the United States shipping board has opened offices at Alexandria and Port Said and the state department at Washington has established a consulate at Port Said. Americans have organized firms as agents and contractors for American ships.

The increase in the trade between America and Egypt has led to the creation of a regular steamship service between these two countries. It is beginning to be understood here that American exporters are learning that without this steamship service their business is at the mercy of foreign shipping interests and that it is essential to the American exporter to favor, when possible, the ship flying the American flag.

American steamship service cannot maintain unless American ships can obtain a full share of the only important return cargo from Egypt, namely cotton.

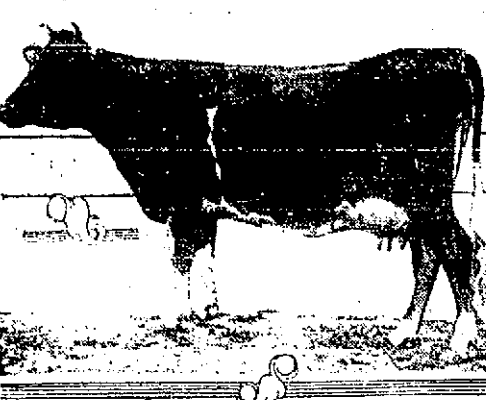

It is felt here that American shipping should be properly appraised the significance of the Suez canal as a convergence point in the world's traffic. The British, on the other hand, have not failed to note its importance. They have consolidated their interests in shipping in the hands of a few powerful English firms so that English ships loading at, or from, eastern or western ports can safely accept cargo for any destination and use Port Said to their great advantage as a point of transshipment.

Complaint has been made that heretofore American shipping interests have been handled by foreign and rival concerns which have other interests to consider before those of American vessels. It has been urged that until American ships at the Suez canal are in American hands which have the incentive and the necessity of building up a transshipment business, America cannot secure a grip on the huge freight traffic through the Suez canal.

Importers and exporters here who have been endeavoring to build up American foreign trade say there are three services of fundamental importance which must be developed before this can be accomplished. These services have been called the "S. I. S." of foreign commerce, success and they are set forth as follows:

(A) American banking institutions in every important port aiding the local importers and exporters to finance their trade with America.

Wisconsin Cow Breaks Record

Latona of the Vanquisher

Between surgical operations. Dr. Wayne A. Mann, who heads a clinic at Janesville, Wis., raises pure bred cattle. The surgeon has exceptional success with his forty six head of purebred Guernseys.

Latona of the Vanquisher, his prize cow, has just finished a year's test in which she established a world's record in class 12 in the American Guernsey association. Latona is Wisconsin's greatest cow, and after her record breaking test of producing 683.31 pounds of butter fat with an average of 5.4 per cent her value jumped to $25,000.

As a physician Dr. Mann is came interested in cattle breeding to supply milk to hospital and clinic patients. He imported cattle from the Isle of Guernsey and his greatest dairy achievement is the record smashing Latona.

Johnnie Beauty Battles, champion producing Holstein for Wisconsin, owned by John Wehler, Rock county breeder, is also valued at the same amount. Her development has been rapid. In Rock county, still in five years cattle from the chief line of the wealth of the county. Along with the Guernseys and Holsteins, the county has prize winners in Shorthorns and Brown Swisses.

JAPANESE HAVE NEW RELIGION

New Sect Operating Fleet of Ships

TOKYO, Oct. 26.—Japan's newest religion is the Rei-chi-gaku, or "spirit-intellect-knowledge." It is a new sect recently in the neighborhood of Yokosuka and now, a few months after its foundation, owns and operates a fleet of merchant ships plying out of Kobe to China ports. The shipping company launched by the new sect is the Tenko Yoko, a few weeks old, but already said to be a competitor in the China trade that is worrying the Nippon Yusen Kaisha.

The God of Yokosuka, as the founder of this sect is called, was until a few brief months ago Watanabe Kunka, who worked in the Yokosuka Naval Arsenal in the humble capacity of clerk. Not long since he launched out in the role of preacher and prophet of the Rei-chi-gaku religion, preaching a doctrine of virtue without regard to worldly gain said to have been the result of long years of intense meditation. Some he found himself at the head of a large number of ardent disciples and his "church" possessed a large and swelling income.

He has written a volume called "The Light of Divine Intellect" which contains the Rei-chi-gaku has attracted many naval and military men into its ranks, naval men especially since there are many in the region of Yokosuka where there is a great naval base. According to the Japanese newspaper the Rei-chi-gaku adherents are placing implicit confidence in their leader in his financial ventures as well as in his spiritual leadership.

WILL OUTLINE BIG PROGRAM

State W. C. T. U. Plans
Dry Enforcement

We are challenged as never before. We can do it if we will!

Membership Shows Gain

The treasurer, Mrs. H. A. Orvis, in presenting her report showed receipts amounting to $40,234.12 and a list of 1,200 members. After the report was read the convention showed its appreciation by standing and giving their membership vote.

Mrs. Emily M. Sisk, executive secretary, and Mrs. Jeanne Lindstedt, as auditor gave their reports.

The president's message was a feature of the afternoon. Mrs. Sam J. Dorr, saying: "The entire world of this organization is permeated with a love which is born of God, a love for humanity under all conditions, a love for our country that is deep and patriotic, a love for the cause of law and order, therefore with this great heart of love, which makes practical Christianity we will go forward, trusting in the future."

Mrs. Dorr outlined the advantages of Fresno, showing how the county is the world's greatest raisin producing center, passing Spain in the production of raisins each year since she reviewed the many reform laws that have been passed; the optic law, the red light abatement law, the law to raise the age of consent, the home teacher bill, the bill for a home for delinquent women, the Wright prohibition enforcement act and others. She named several of the organizations that have recently organized to secure a modification of the prohibition law in that light wines for beverages may be made and delivered to the home of the purchaser. She emphasized the importance of vigilance on the part of the W. C. T. U. She continued: "There has been a steady increase in sentiment for prohibition. In 1914, Fresno county had a wet majority vote of 1890; in 1916 a dry majority of 2445; in 1918 a dry majority of 4471 and in 1920 a dry majority of 5102."

Give Vote of Appreciation

Mrs. Carrie W. Jackson told of the work that is being done in organizing the young people's branches.

The delegates voted to send a telegram of appreciation to the San Francisco Executive and to the Annie Laurie, special writer of the Examiner for their stand on drug traffic and for Annie Laurie's series of articles telling of conditions in the interest of abolishing the drug traffic.

Mrs. Frances C. Gilmore spoke in the afternoon on "Christian Citizenship: What?" in which she said that Christian citizenship is the W. C. T. U. in action, that it is Americanism, flower mission and hospital work, prison work, child welfare, evangelistic work. She continued: "We are facing the greatest contest in this state for the upholding of the principles of Christian citizenship that has ever come to us. Eliminating elaborate wedding ceremonies, Mr. and Mrs. Carmen

Casarez of Hanford yesterday attempted a marriage which had it proven successful, would have been the most simple marriage ever performed in Fresno county.

"And now we are married," they stated to their witness, Mrs. Manuel

Garcia as they were leaving the court house after securing a marriage license from D. M. Harwell, county clerk.

"That marriage certificate does not look like mine," Mrs. Garcia said after momentarily scrutinizing

the license. "Let's investigate."

The trio visited Police Judge Herbert P. Briggs in the city hall where, after the nature of the license was explained, Miss Barnard Carmona, was married to Carmen Casarez.
